

  MINISTRY OF DIGITAL ECONOMY AND SOCIETY		Daily Weather Forecast Distribution Saturday 24 October 2026 Issued at 1700 LST
General Situation
The high-pressure system covering the upper North, the upper Northeast of Thailand and the South China Sea is weakening while the easterly wind still prevails over the upper country, the upper South and the upper Gulf. At the same time, the monsoon trough lies across the middle South. Continuous rainfalls and isolated heavy rains are forecast in the South while isolated thundershower is likely in the upper country. People in the areas should beware of thundershowers, heavy to very heavy rains and accumulation that may cause flash floods, overflows and landslides especially along the waterways near foothills and lowlands. In the Andaman Sea and the Gulf, the waves will be higher than 2 meters high in thundershower areas. All ships should keep off thundershowers. In addition, during 25–27 Oct 2026, the high-pressure system from China will extend to the upper country and the South China Sea leading to the easterly wind bring the moisture from the South China Sea and the Gulf to the upper country. Variable weathers are possible following with thundershowers, gust in the upper country.
